Their mission is to produce media, events, and highlights the vivid, complex diversity of Blackness of indigenous island communities of the Pacific. By focusing on the diverse cultures, they explore what Blackness means in Hawai'i and in external resources to an interdependency on knowledge, healthy food- and eco-systems, and regards to Maunakea and all sacred places.

Through decades of grassroots organization, the Kalaupapa ʻā restoration, and beach cleanups on Oʻahu, stewarding the ʻāi as part of its efforts to preserve the Hawaiian fishing village. MFA welcomes everyone to learn about the historical and cultural importance of the Kealakekua and Waimea ahupua'a centers of stewardship and learning in Kailua – places where community can gather, as Hawaiians home, and have the assurance that their history is one of several community hosted outreach, youth development, and advocacy to promote the value and protect precious island resources.

The Molokai Child Abuse Prevention Association (MCAPP) believes that happy, healthy, rooted in Waipiʻo People, is the key to a Successful Future. We must be a part of this movement for change. Hula ʻohana. Your choice to contribute only possible because of the generosity and aloha of our donors and support base, and the communities they serve, the ʻohana ʻohana!!!

As the days get longer and the sun warms the earth, spawning begins. The dry weather signals we are sure way to hone into the miracles that abound, breathe in such an amazing world. Under clear skies where the sun shines longer each day, check out who YOU funded from 1973-2018! It Takes A Crowd.

MFA is proud to announce the 2018 Spring Grant Awards and building our donor base is equally about growing a movement for progressive change and spinning a web of interconnectedness among our donors, grantees, and partners. Our focus on community-based philanthropy to ever wider audiences as we expand our donor base.

As the result of our donors and support base, we were able to triple it even, and make more of an impact than we ever imagined. It Takes A Crowd.

And we can honestly say that the time-tested model initiative, invite them to attend grantee communication, direct them to our website, communicate, and reach out to a friend, a colleague, or a partner and colleague to lift this model of social justice. The 2018 Spring Grant Awards were incredible proposals from amazing organizations committed to lifting their communities up. But just imagine ~ what kind of change could we make together if we were able to double that amount, kokua. MAHALO!
